LAVAL GOVERNMENT IN JEOPARDY

FATE WILL BE DECIDED AT TO-DAY'S MEETING

RADICAL-SOCIALISTS HOLD KEY TO POLITICAL PROBLEM

King Carol of Romania, shown at army headquarters during recent manoeuvres, successfully counted on his army's loyalty as political parties threatened to depose him unless he ousted Mme. Lupescu, his sweetheart, from her position at court.

NEW AIR RECORD ESTABLISHED

Involuntary Effort By
"Graf Zeppelin"

BRAZIL REVOLT RESPONSIBLE

"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL
Berlin To-day.
On its 500th trip, the Graf Zeppelin, owing to the insurrection in Brazil, involuntarily established a new record.

Being unable to land at Pernambuco the airship was forced to cruise about the Brazilian coast from Monday morning until yesterday afternoon, so that the total time spent on the flight was 119 hours, the longest duration hitherto being that on the first flight to North America from October 11 to 15, 1928, lasting 111 hours 44 minutes, that is over seven hours longer; while the time taken on the Graf Zeppelin's longest distance trip, namely, to Tokyo on the round-the-world tour in August 1929, 7,062 miles, was accomplished in 101 hours 49 minutes.—Trans-Ocean Service.

SIGNALS HEARD FROM ELLSWORTH'S PLANE

But Weak And Unreadable

Wellington, To-day.
The warship Dunedin reports hearing signals from Ellsworth's plane.—Reuter.

A later message states that Ellsworth's signals were very weak and unreadable, but the call sign KENIR was heard several times. The plane appeared to be giving its position in figures. A continuous watch is being kept at the New Zealand stations.—Reuter.

A later message says that Ellsworth's signals trying to indicate his position were also picked up simultaneously with those of a vessel voyaging from Wellington to Auckland.—Reuter.

Ellsworth is the young Australian aviator who was himself lost while searching for Sir Charles Kingsford Smith.

WOMAN PILOTS DEATH

GERMAN AVIATRIX PASSES

"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL
Vienna, To-day.
Germany's only woman test pilot, Louise Hoffmann, died early yesterday morning, in hospital at Bonn, near Vienna, where she crashed in a fog on November 2 on her way back from a Balkan flight and received severe injuries.

Mrs. Hoffmann gained her pilot's certificate at the age of 16, thus being Germany's youngest pilot on either sex at the time. The brilliant young aviator gave many exhibitions of trick flying in the southern European countries, being also well known in America. (Continued on Page 12.)

"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL

Paris, To-day.
In view of the critical situation prevailing in the international political relationships the question commanding the public interest here at the moment is whether the Laval Government will succeed in weathering the storm of opposition, which seems every hour to grow more threatening.

The People's Front met yesterday to prepare their plan of campaign, adopting the slogan: "Laval must fall, whatever happens." The Socialists and Communists started an attack along these lines, whereupon the Radical-Socialist Party, which is numerically the strongest, declared that in view of the grave financial situation the present Government had the right to deal with the problems in question before the Chamber.

M. Leon Blum, the Socialist chief, then declared that for his party it was a matter of indifference whether a Government of the Left or Centre followed, so long as M. Laval disappeared. A Government without M. Laval, he declared, could pass the Budget in one day.

The meeting will be resumed to-day, when the fate of the Laval Government will depend on whether the Radical-Socialists stand firm by yesterday's declaration.—Trans-Ocean Service.

The purposes of the demonstration having apparently been met, the Japanese military authorities this morning withdrew their troops from the Fengtai and Changyimen stations.

A Nanking message says that cification Commissioner at difficult to safeguard the security of Peiping and Tientsin,

I fear I cannot undertake the heavier responsibility of paci-

fying Hopei and Chahar."—

TACTICAL BLUNDER REVEALED

CAPTURED OFFICER'S EXPLANATION

RAS DESTA'S FORCED MARCH UPSETS ITALIAN FRONT

Addis Ababa, To-day.

The whole capital is "Maffiking" on the strength of the official claim that the Italians are evacuating Makalle, and, in the absence of any news from the Italian side discrediting the report, the populace is now declaring that the Italians realise that they have bitten off more than they can chew.

Meanwhile the Government circumstantially reports that 1,000 Italian troops garrisoned at Makalle hurriedly evacuated the city on Tuesday with tanks, guns, stores, lorries and soldiers crowding the track back to Adigrat. A captured native officer attributed the sudden Italian retreat to over-hastiness in the advance, and the mistake in not clearing the surrounding country, including Tembien plateau, and thus securing communications before advancing further.

A Harar message says that the serious threat to the Italian communications in the south by the present Abyssinian advance into Italian Somaliland under Ras Desta is shown by the fact that advance bands of Fanno tribesmen reconnoitring ahead of Ras Desta's forces are nearing Iscia-Baidoa, an important town in Italian Somaliland only 150 miles from the capital, Mogadishu. The main body of invaders is reported to be some distance to the north-west.

A reliable and graphic account of Ras Desta's invasion states that this mystery warrior, mounted on a white mule, led his Sidamo tribesmen numbering nearly 100,000, down the Juba valley and crossed the frontier into Italian Somaliland. Many of his men died either in battle or from the fever-ridden arid climate.

Nevertheless, winding their way like gigantic snakes, Ras Desta's columns pushed inexorably on, till the advance is now causing perturbation at Mogadishu and has obliged General Graziani to divert his forces from the high land at Juba to meet them.—Reuter.

ITALIAN DENIALS

Rome, To-day.—The Abyssinian report of successes gained by their troops and the re-occupation of Makalle, Gorkhai and Ual Ual, are officially denied here, being characterised as pure invention.

The special three months' leave which it was announced a week ago, would be given to 100,000 soldiers, has now been temporarily suspended, it is stated in authoritative Italian quarters.

The reasons given for this decision are the general political situation and the uneasiness observed everywhere, caused by the possibility of sanctions being increased in severity, particularly through an embargo on oil.

In view of the international situation, it is added, the Italian Government has also felt obliged to carry out certain movements of troops, no details of which however, have been supplied.

INCREASING DISRESPECT

Addis Ababa: The Italians are retreating from the Tembien and Geralta regions on the northern front, in the face of continued strong Abyssinian pressure, according to reports issued here which also state that an Italian garrison of 1,200 men has been withdrawn from Makalle, which (Continued on Page 12.)

KING AND QUEEN TO VISIT SANDRINGHAM

London, To-day.—Their Majesties the King and Queen expect to leave London for Sandringham after the State Opening of Parliament next Tuesday and will remain there for about a week.—Reuter.

PLAYING FOR TIME

Two Sub-Committees In Geneva

"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL
Geneva, To-day.

The permanent committee for the supervision of the application of sanctions appointed two sub-committees in the course of yesterday's session, one for financial and the other for economic sanctions.

The financial sub-committee will meet to-day under the chairmanship of the Swedish delegate, M. Westman, but no date has as yet been fixed for the first session of the economic sub-committee.

This is regarded here as confirmation of the prevailing view, that the Sanctions Committee wishes to gain time until the situation is clearer.—Trans-Ocean Service.

ITALY TACTICALLY DEPRECIATES DOMESTIC GOLD VALUE

Rome, To-day.—In order to attract gold from its own citizens the Government has raised the buying price from 12.62 lire per gramme to 15.50, thus tactfully admitting 13½ per cent depreciation for this purpose.—Reuter.

date has as yet been fixed for the first session of the economic sub-committee.

This is regarded here as confirmation of the prevailing view, that the Sanctions Committee wishes to gain time until the situation is clearer.—Trans-Ocean Service.

ABOLITION OF IRISH SENATE

Measure Re-introduced By De Valera

Dublin, To-day.—Mr. de Valera has finally decided to abolish the Senate. He has tabled a motion which will come up before the Dail on December 5 for the re-introduction of the bill abolishing the Upper House, which was held up for 18 months following rejection by the Senate. The matter can now constitutionally be raised again.

The measure will become law within 60 days if it is again rejected by the Senate.—Reuter.

HOW TO CHANGE OLD BATHROOMS INTO NEW ONES

Novel Methods Recommended

PLUMING THE FIRST CONSIDERATION

Is there anything more uninteresting than an old bathroom, one without any degree of individuality or sparkle of colour? Such a room doesn't really need to exist, for there are many ways in which it can easily be improved, by making the most of what you have—no matter how unlikely that may seem.

The plumbing is of course the first consideration, but we cannot go into that here, for after all it is quite a different problem. With the exception of placement of fixtures and the establishment of harmonious colours, that must be left to the contractor. Let us start with the walls, for there are numerous ways of going about their rejuvenation. If you are fortunate enough to have one of those old-fashioned bathrooms, large and spacious but quite lacking in modernity, you can bring it up to date either with new fixtures, which cost a good deal, or with bright colours and the latest trappings at small expense. In the end your bathroom will be far more attractive than most of the small cramped rooms that are the vogue to-day.

In the old-fashioned room with more than one window and door the walls are probably plastered and there may be no tiling. If you choose you can put in this tiling glass tile, white or coloured, or any of the many varieties, a wainscoting of it built up three or four, or even five feet, depending upon the original height of the room. But if that doesn't fit in with your ideas there are many other equally attractive plans to be considered. There is tile-board which can be set in place and when painted makes an acceptable substitute for real tile. Perhaps it should not be looked on as a substitute for after all it does not pretend to be what it is not, so let it rest on its own merits.

SHAMPOO THE FURNITURE!

Easy Process Explained

Of course you frequently shampoo your hair, but have you ever shampooed the furniture? Yes, actually! It not only can be done, but there's nothing like it for sprucing up the best parlour numbers before applying another treatment of furniture polish. Here's how it's done:

First rub on about an 18-inch square of surface a thick soap lather, then wipe off the lather with a damp cloth and then dry with a non-abrasive (lint free) dry cloth. Finish surface with a good furniture polish.

BUILT-IN BEDS

Built-in beds take care of extra guests and do not take up valuable space at times when they are not needed. Attic rooms with sloping walls that make it difficult to use an ordinary bedstead will look well with built-in bunks, and guest rooms may be created from top-floor space which has formerly been wasted.

The Control Of Colours

An Ingenious Invention

The precise control of colour and brightness is one of the most perplexing problems facing the paint industry to-day. An instrument, called the reflectometer, which will aid in solving this difficulty, has been developed by Richard E. Hunter of the scientific section of the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association.

The reflectometer has proved most useful in the careful and accurate comparisons of colour and brightness. Besides paint makers, it is benefiting other commercial fields such as the paper, ceramic industries, etc.

COULD NOT DRESS HERSELF

"For neuritis I am using Kruschen Salts," writes a woman of 60 years. "And they are a real benefit for I could not dress myself sometimes, my left arm was so painful. I take Kruschen every morning, and the pain has now gone. I was recommended by my doctor to take salts of some kind that suited me, and I find Kruschen is the best. In fact it is wonderful. I feel ever so much better, and I shall always take it. I am 60 years of age, and have not felt so well for years."—K.P.

The pains of neuritis and sciatica are a symptom of deeper trouble—the same trouble that causes rheumatism, gout and limbago. They are a sign of an impure blood-stream. They show that poisons have crept into the blood.

Kruschen is a combination of six natural salts, which ensure internal cleanliness and keep the blood-stream pure. New and refreshed blood is sent coursing to every fibre of your being. Then neuritis, sciatica and kindred ills all pass you by.

TENANTS OWN AQUARIUM

Mystified Landlord In Germany

CHINA MAIL—SPECIAL

Landberg, Today.

A tenant who secretly used the bath for breeding fish consumed such vast quantities of water that the mystified landlord at last instituted enquiries. Each flat in a huge block was quietly examined in turn, until finally the private aquarium was discovered, when it turned out that the water had been running day and night for weeks.

The landlord applied forthwith for the eviction of the tenant, and in the meanwhile the neighbours are taking each other: "When did he wash himself?" — Trans-Ocean Service.

TAIKOO'S IMPROVED BADMINTON DISPLAY
RECREIO "A" TOO GOOD FOR "B" COMBINATION
FIRE BRIGADE DEFEATED

A GREAT surprise was caused in the Men's Doubles Badminton League last night, when the Taikoo Recreation Club secured four sets against the Victoria Recreation Club at Quarry Bay. Taikoo's performance was in the nature of a warning to other members of the League not to take things too easily against them.

C. Summers and A. W. Norrie played an exceptionally good game last night, displaying good combination, which has seldom been seen among the Taikoo players, and they accounted for two of the four sets.

T. Stainton and Routledge accounted for the other two sets, but Dovey and Gattwell, newcomers, could not hold their own against the V.R.C. players.

The Recreio "A" accomplished a good performance at King's Park by securing 8 sets against Recreio "B". The matches were very exciting, but the Recreio "B" unexpectedly proved no match for their seniors. Beltrao and Remedios securing their only set.

Another unexpected win was recorded at the Central Police Station, where the Fire Brigade sustained their first defeat when they lost to the St. Andrew's "A" team by 7 sets to 2.

E. F. Fischer and H. Kew provided a formidable combination, and were the only pair to extend Shute and Anderson, the Fire Brigade's first string.

St. John's Beaten

The St. John's Cathedral Club would have suffered an even worse defeat at the hands of the C. R. C. had it not been for the effective display of F. H. Kwok and G. A. Smith, who managed to win all their three sets.

Detailed results were as follows:

LOSE SECOND STUMPER IN WILLIAMS

BIG PROBLEM FOR "AUSSIE" TEST

CAMERON'S LOSS IS KEENLY FELT

London, November 4. South Africa's loss of an outstanding wicket-keeper in H. E. Cameron is emphasised by the fact that R. J. Williams is also lost to them.

On Saturday Williams, who played for South Africa in England last summer as reserve wicket-keeper to Cameron, made his appearance in the Welsh Rugby Trial at Neath. He recently joined the London Welsh and, I gather, impressed the selectors on Saturday.

Williams did not sail home with the rest of the South Africans in September because he had secured a position in London with an electrical engineering firm.

Remote Prospects

Another thing that influenced him to stay here was the remoteness of his prospect of becoming South Africa's first choice as wicket-keeper while Cameron wore the gloves. And Cameron assured me that, for his part, he did not intend to give them up just yet.

Thus, on the eve of the Australians' visit to them the South Africans are deprived, almost at one stroke, of their two leading wicket-keepers.

They are now faced with a problem that must be settled quickly, for the Test matches are drawing near.

Third String

Before Williams appeared on the scene E. A. Van der Merwe was regarded as Cameron's successor. He played in a Test over here in 1929.

But he is in his 32nd year, and the possibility of his being recalled is slight.

As we know, the South Africans prefer nowadays to pick their Test players young and they will probably unearth some new star to do duty behind the stumps.

ARMY SHOOT

C.P.O. Black Returns Good Score

The Hong Kong Rifle Association held a Spook and Practice Shoot at the Kowloon City Army Range yesterday when C. P. O. Black returned a score of 97 in the S. R. (a) section with Sergeant Warwick (90) occupying second place.

In the S. R. (a) section Cpl Powell was first with a score of 88, while L. Cpl Peter had 87.

ARMY TEAM FOR SATURDAY

League Fixture With Kowloon C.C.

The following have been selected to represent the Army in a League cricket match against Kowloon Cricket Club on the latter's ground next Saturday, commencing at 2 p.m. sharp.

Major V. J. Bonar (K.A.C.C.), Capt. L. J. Walsh (R.A.S.C.), Capt. Q. E. Powers (Signals), Lt. C. H. Cleck Hill (R.W.F.), Lt. I. E. Johnson (R.W.F.), Lt. E. M. Dawson (R.E.), Lt. J. E. Tolley, Lt. G. E. E. Drewett, Lt. J. Woodhouse, Lt. D. Carew and Lt. A. A. Dand.

The match is to be played through the afternoon.

The selected team is as follows:

FORWARDS LACK INITIATIVE DAND MAKES WELCOME RETURN TO FIELD REEKS AGAIN IMPRESSIVE

A RATHER uninteresting friendly hockey match between the Lincolns and the Hong Kong Club, in which both teams scored once, was featured by the return, after an absence of nearly two years, of the well-known hockey veteran, A. A. Dand, who turned out for the Club at left-wing in the absence of D. L. Nooy.

The game was uninteresting inasmuch as both forward lines lacked initiative. The match was fairly fast but neither brilliant passing nor clever stickwork distinguished the players of either team.

The outstanding player in the Club eleven was W. A. Reed, in the pivotal position. He combined with the forwards very well, sending up many perfect passes.

Dand, despite the advance of years and lack of practice, was remarkably quick in getting to the ball, due to his good positioning, and passed accurately when he secured possession. He was unable to combine successfully with Carey, the inside-left, however, because of the latter's superior speed. As a result of this Carey often found himself unsupported when a quick pass to the wing would have been beneficial.

Fowler Plays Well

On the other wing S. A. Fowler played a consistently good game throughout, but Wildy, sensing a dangerous opponent, kept him well-marked. Fowler's one fault yesterday was in his inclination to pass blindly, and on one occasion this occurred when the Club had broken through the defence and a goal seemed imminent. An

"THROSTLES" MAKE BIG IMPROVEMENT

BOLD TEAM CHANGES BY WOLVES SATISFY

LYTHGOE DECLARED TOO SMALL FOR CENTRE FORWARD

(By "Leighton")

London, To-day.

THERE is no real recompense for a Cup Final defeat, but there is at least compensation, and West Bromwich Albion, defeated by Sheffield Wednesday last April, duly took Wednesday at Wembley last April, duly took their share. They shared with Grimsby Town the distinction of being the away winners of the First Division.

Only the other week West Bromwich scored seven goals in an away match at Villa Park, and the improvement of the "Throstles" is an outstanding feature of current play.

This big defeat of the Wednesday will cause the manager to wonder whether the acquisition of Bruce and Rhodes should constitute the end of his rebuilding schemes.

Bold team changes by Wolverhampton Wanderers — a half-back at centre-forward and a centre-forward at half-back — produced a satisfactory result. Leeds United being defeated by three goals, of which the half-back claimed two.

Hibbs Shine

Despite a splendid exhibition in goal by Hibbs, Birmingham were beaten at Preston, and Blackburn Rovers had their colours lowered by Lancashire rivals at Bolton.

Apparently, Middlesbrough set a pace which was too fast for them to maintain, and they only drew at home to Liverpool.

There was no satisfaction for Chelsea — not even a goal — at Huddersfield, where the player who was supposed to be too small for the centre-forward position, Lythgoe, had two successive shots.

One of the two Brentford goals was scored by J. C. Burns, the only amateur playing regularly in a First Division side Hopkins, the right winger, got the other, while Parkin scored for Arsenal.

Very Fine Player

A half-back of repute, Burns had to take the inside-left position in the emergency. This fine amateur does most of his training with the boys of his school, and the fact that he stands the test at the week-end contains a hint that it is not really necessary for the star footballers to spend so much time on the playing pitch during the week.

There is still time for Arsenal to prove the falsity of the conclusion, but for the moment it must be said that the vision of a fourth successive championship is fading away.

Surrey enjoyed easy win at Richmond, where they beat the Eastern Counties by 17 points to nil.

AMERICAN FOOTBALL IN CANTON

Over 20 members of the Oversea Chinese Athletic Club, a recently organised body, left for Canton this morning to play an American rugby match against the Ling Nan University.

Among those who will proceed to Canton are Chan Fong, Chan Yen-yu, Chan Kwo-kheng, Lin Kam-yu, Chan Puk, Chan Wui, Cheng King-yan, Tsang Ting-kan, Chan Wing-jeng, Chan Pak-tuen, Chan Siming, Chan Hin-chung, Tsang King-keung, Lee Kwo-kheng, Kong Hong-on, Wong Poh-keung, Wong Edward George, Tsang Wong San-shan and Cheng Pat.

G. Rodger, the skipper of the Club first eleven, above, will play in goal for Massie of Heart of Midlothian, who played for the Scottish League on Wednesday.

It is understood, however, that while Massie may be prepared to do business in regard to this player, their ideas of his value are roughly double the "Spurs" offer of £5,000.

FOOTBALL FORM GUIDE

Comprehensive Table Shows Form At A Glance

A COMPREHENSIVE guide to the form of all Clubs in the four premier English Football Leagues and the premier Scottish League will be found in the appended table. To assist in comparing the teams' details of how they have fared in their last five matches are given.

The letters W, L and D indicate matches won, lost and drawn, respectively. Games played at home are shown in capital letters, while away games are denoted by ordinary type. The figure in brackets denotes the position held by that team at the conclusion of last season, an asterisk denotes that that team has been promoted, and a dagger that that team has been relegated.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

General "Statistique"

Major General Charles Dupont headed the "Second Bureau" (French Military Espionage) in Paris for many years prior to the World War. He was so zealous in the collection of information about military Germany, that he accumulated a vast store of knowledge about the national enemy. During the War it was his task to keep the French High Army Command posted about the movements of the enemy. Disdaining the use of written records or memory, sick, he retained the name and rank of every officer stationed in the German Army on the Western front. He also memorised the number, strength, origin, itinerary, location, history and colour of every German company. Whenever he was called upon to report to Joffre or Foch, he could continue for many hours to rattle off the most circumstantial information about the enemy from memory. No war prisoner over maled him. He could point out, almost without reflection, where the prisoner's information was misleading or incorrect.

After the War, General Dupont realised the fondest dream of a spy. He was appointed Head of the Interallied Commission to Control German Armament and was now permitted to work openly and with authority in the land of the enemy.

TWO NEW MINISTERS ARRIVE

Warm Welcome From Local Churchgoers

The Reverend D. MacLean and the Reverend K. M. Dow, the two ministers of the Kowloon Union Church and the Hong Kong Union Church respectively, were accorded a warm welcome when they arrived to take up their new duties by the said Nalders this morning.

Among those present to greet the two clergymen, who are both accompanied by their wives, were: Messrs. E. Hinsworth, Noble, Taylor, A. W. Ingram, S. V. Boxer, J. L. MacPherson, N. H. Currie, Rev. and Mrs. F. Short, Mesdames, Ingram Watson and Scott, Miss A. T. Hamilton and Miss Stevenson.

there was reserved for the main arena. That motive might have some influence, but it would not be safe to reply on it. Aviation has made great strides since then, as well as chemical science.

The question of policy as it would appear to an enemy is rather different. It was fully discussed in Berlin before the decision to resort to the "unrestricted" submarine warfare. That plan was at first rejected on the Kaiser's minute, which has been published with other confidential papers, in which he said that the resentment it would kindle would be fatal unless the Naval Staff could guarantee that it would be successful in a short time. Admiral von Tirpitz gave the required guarantee. The Kaiser had shown a sound premonition, and it is a sign of how far we have gone back that it should be taken for granted now that all methods of attack would be unrestricted from the start. But there is still the question of motive.

Why use planes that would be wanted elsewhere to attack a port which could be attacked by gunfire? Neither attack would be possible without at least a temporary command of the sea, and plane-carriers would be much more vulnerable than warships. The object of any attack would be the neutralisation of the Hong Kong harbour as a base, and gas would not be the appropriate means of attaining that end. It would appear that there are other spots that could serve an enemy's purpose with less trouble. Final possession would, of course, depend on possession of all other islands would depend, on which Power kept the command of the sea at the end of the war, and there is no need to begin to worry about that.

A different question altogether is the consideration of whether gas would be likely to be used by an enemy against Hong Kong. During the three years when gas was used on the Western front, it was not used at all on the "mesesnows." Partly this was because the supply was limited, and that Here There, and Everywhere.

A BIG SACRIFICE

Mr. Wilfrid Greene, K.C., makes a financial sacrifice of about $55,000 a year to become a Lord Justice of Appeal. His annual income at the Bar was estimated at $40,000. He has by far the biggest practice which has ever been built up at the Chancery Bar and for years his friends have been telling him that he has been working himself to death.

He is a brilliant wit and scholar, a Fellow of All Souls and regularly writes the topical epilogues to the Westminster Latin plays.

His sense of humour came out at Versailles during the making of the Peace Treaty. When Mr. Lloyd George said, "I've heard of the Czechs, the Slovaks and the Slavs, but who were the Jungs?" Mr. Greene wrote down an imaginary and humorous history of the Jungs. It was passed round the Conference, and added to the variety of nations.

SECOND C.I.N.C. IN SEA

"His friends were glad to hear that Sir Roger Backhouse had completely recovered from the after-effects of recent his mishap, when the Rodney's seaplane, in which he was a passenger, capsized while sightseeing on the water in Portmavine roadstead.

Sir Roger Backhouse succeeded Lord Cork as C-in-C of the Home Fleet about three months ago. His involuntary immersion put the Commanders-in-Chief of both the main British fleets—the Home and the Mediterranean—on the same footing.

For in July Sir William Fisher, C-in-C in the Mediterranean, was swept overboard from his barge.

Young Husband: "Don't you think we ought to get some shot trees?" Bride: "Oh let's do! It will be so much cheaper to raise our own!"

True Enough

The sexton had been laying the new carpet on the pulpit platform and had left a number of tacks scattered on the floor. "See here, James," said the parson, "what do you suppose would happen if I stepped on one of these tacks right in the middle of my sermon?"

"Well, sir," replied the sexton, "I reckon there'd be one point you wouldn't singe on."

Oh, Yes!

HIGHWAY ACROSS CANADA

ALL-BRITISH MOTOR ROUTE

FIRST TRANS-ATLANTIC ROAD OF ITS KIND

(By A. H. Faulkner)

London.

I HAVE just returned to New York from a motoring holiday in Canada, wondering whether English people realise how accessible and delightful to visit this spacious land is.

It is its accessibility for the British motorist with a month to spare that particularly impressed me, because this is something so recent that even Canadians do not seem to have recognised its significance.

The Trans-Canada Highway, one of the world's most romantic roads, has been brought within a few hundred miles of completion this year. For the first time it is now possible to travel the 4,000 odd miles from Atlantic to Pacific with a car without entering the United States during the journey.

It is still necessary to take the steamer for 250 miles across Lake Superior and to board a train for 90 miles in British Columbia, but 4,000 road builders are expected to complete the missing links within the next 12 months.

Work For 12,000

Many sections of the highway form part of the road system of Provinces they traverse, and have been in existence for years. Canadians are proud of the fact that there are only three countries in the world, the United States, Great Britain and France, where more motor-cars are owned than in Canada. Naturally, Canada has miles of first-rate roads.

Since 1930, when the idea of a continuous motor route from coast to coast first took definite shape, the huge task of joining up appropriate portions of Provincial highway has been actively encouraged by the Dominion Government, which usually contributes 50 per cent of the cost. Work has been provided in this way for as many as 12,000 men at a time.

These facts come to life when one visits the wild, almost completely unsettled region in Ontario, where the winding thread of concrete and gravel breaks off and the task of the road-builder has yet to be completed. It is an awesome thing to see a good road run into the wilderness and come to an end.

Principal Gap

The principal gap is a few miles from Sault Ste. Marie, at the south-eastern end of Lake Superior. The traveller who reaches it has already seen a good deal of Eastern Canada. If he came from Europe and disembarked at Halifax he will have traversed Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Quebec Provinces, and a large part of Ontario.

At present the only way to proceed is to take ship for Port Arthur, on the north-western shore of the lake, whence the road now goes with few interruptions over a section opened this summer to Winnipeg, in Manitoba; to Moosejaw, in Saskatchewan; to Medicine Hat and Banff, one of Canada's famous beauty spots, in Alberta.

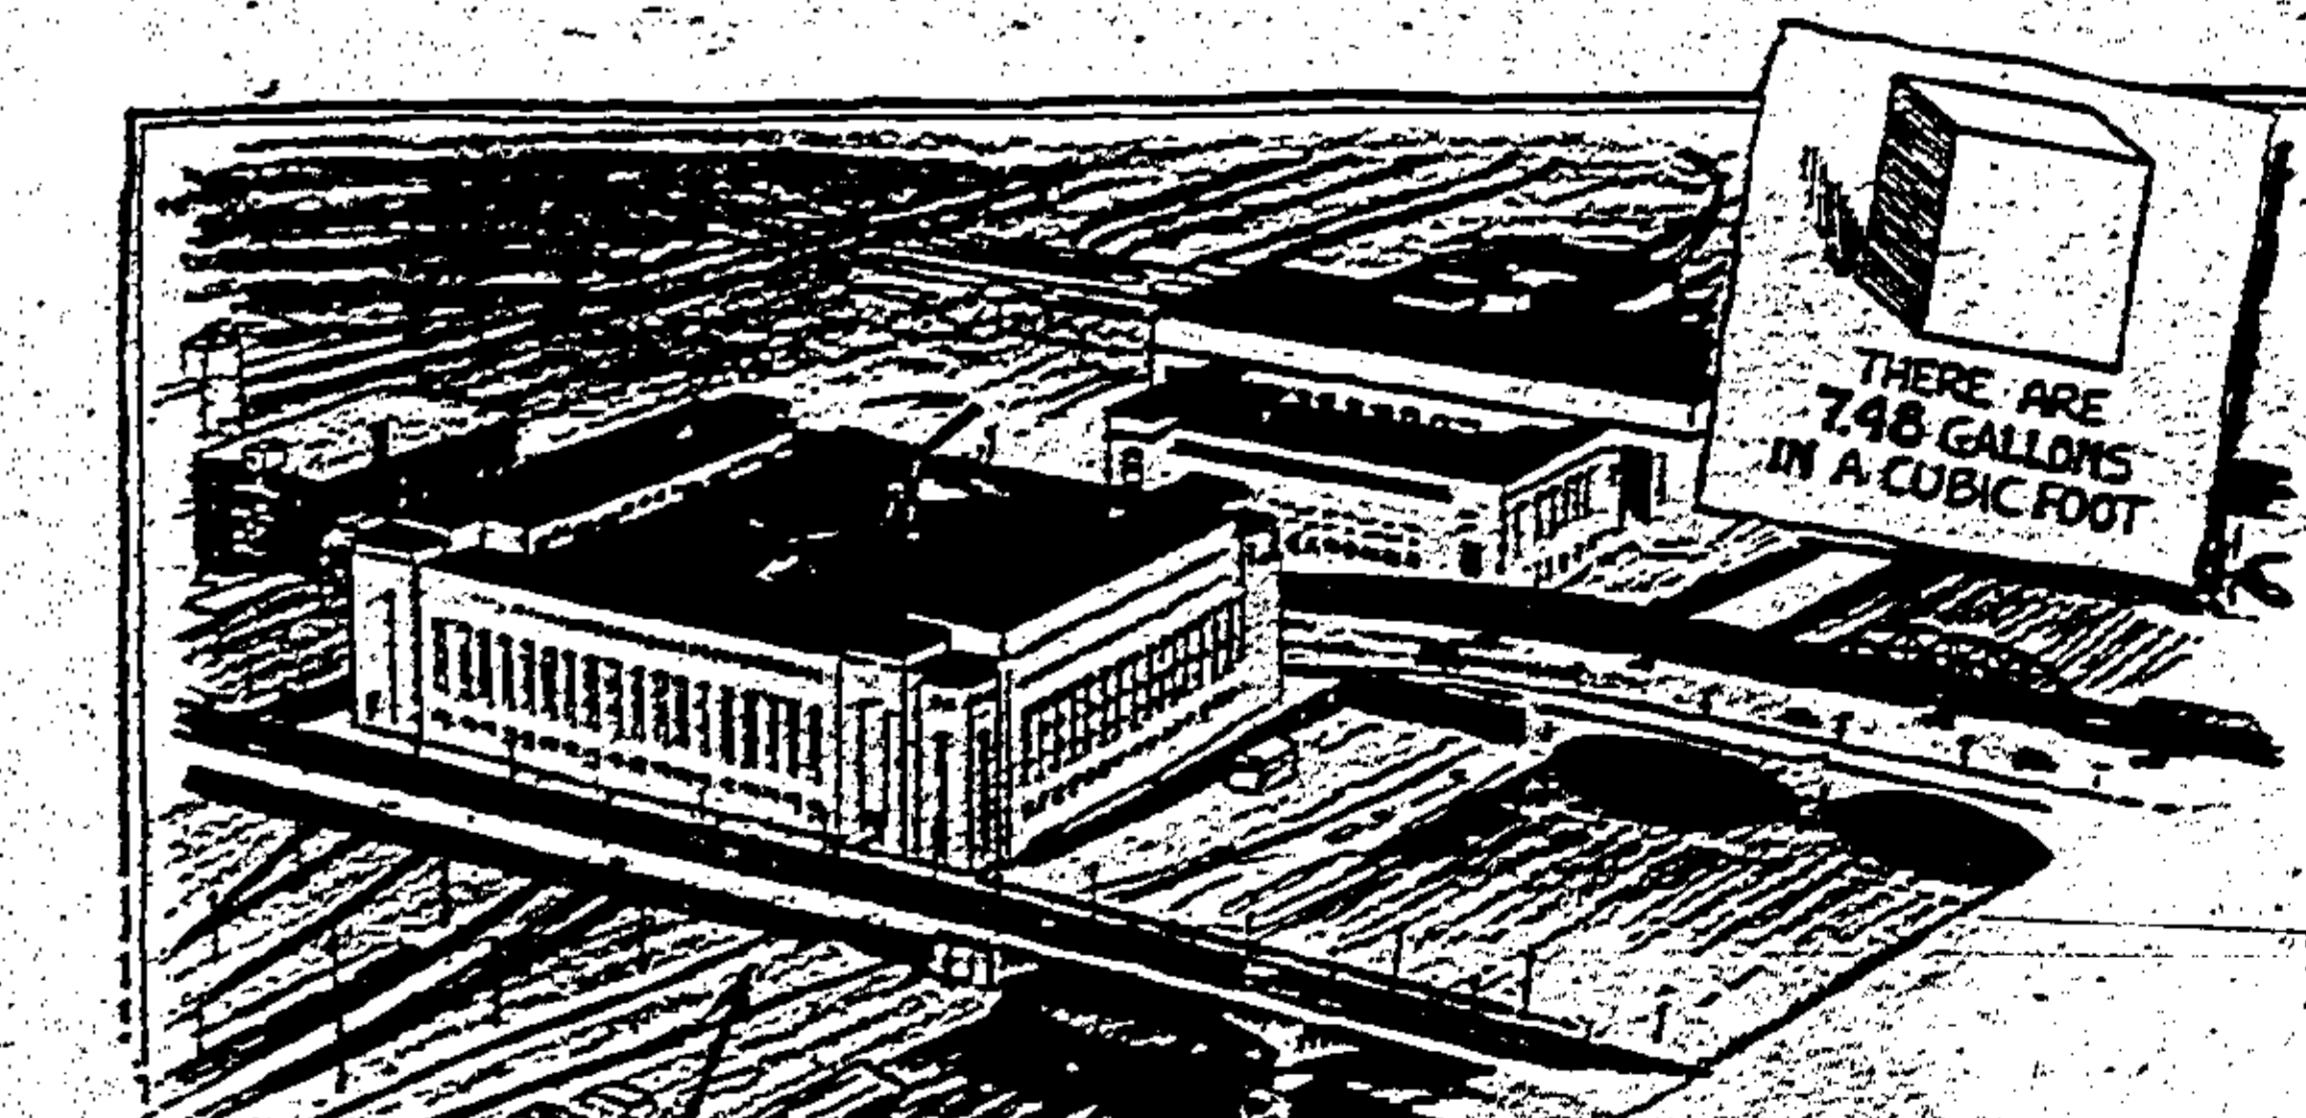

A short distance beyond Banff, at Golden, in British Columbia, the Trans-Canada Highway again peters out for a few miles. A train now takes motor-cars across the 90-mile gap to Revelstoke, whence driving can be resumed to Vancouver, on the Pacific.

A road, which will be 180 miles in length, is under construction between Golden and Revelstoke. It goes round the "Big Bend" in the Columbia River, where landslides have caused considerable delay. The Department of National Defence has been helping the roadmakers on this stretch since last year.

AWARDS DISTRIBUTED BY HON. MR. J. P. BRAGA

PRIZEGIVING DAY AT ST. JOSEPH'S

SCHOOL REPORT FOR YEAR 1934-35

THE HON. MR. J. P. BRAGA

The Hon. Mr. J. P. Braga, O.B.E., himself an old pupil of the College, yesterday distributed the awards at the annual prizegiving of St. Joseph's College. The Report for the school year 1934-1935 was presented by the Rev. Fr. Matthias, Director of the institution.

Previous to the prize distribution the school orchestra and choir gave an excellent musical programme, in which were inserted two recitations, Mark Anthony's oration over Caesar's body and "Bingen on the Rhine." The proceedings terminated with the singing of "God Save the King."

The Report
The Rev. Brother Matthias, the Director of the College, opened his speech by thanking Mr. Braga for presiding and referring to the well-merited honour conferred upon him by His Majesty.

The period under review he said embraced 1934 and the first half of 1935. It was a transition period for the schools of Hong Kong and we would fain believe, a step forward; but the change brought about in the entrance examination to the University had not improved things.

New Requirements

"It is now necessary" he said, "for a boy to pass in nine subjects and, if he takes Chinese, eleven subjects—failing in any one of which means he must either face another year's work with perhaps the same fate awaiting him or leave school without an external certificate to prove he has had a good general education. I think too much stress is laid on science, to the detriment of the time-honoured cultural subjects mathematics and classics and for the great majority of boys, commercial subjects.

"Whatever may be the prevailing ideas of the moment as to the best methods of imparting knowledge, the principles of education remain the same, namely "the harmonious development of the physical, intellectual and spiritual sides of the child-nature." The last named is of supreme importance in a Catholic College, and embraces instruction, exercises of piety, the inculcation of virtue and the formation of character. Belloc says that to be a good Catholic you must be a strong man. The end of our system of education is to turn out strong men; men who will be loyal to God, to their King and country and to themselves."

Visitors Puzzled

Most of the visitors seemed slightly puzzled by the paintings, but the Royal Academicians, who were there in force, studied them assiduously. One Academician was overheard to say: "This is what I've always wanted. I feel all my life has been wasted."

Many students are arranging a prolonged course of study. One has already spent three weeks among the bronzes of the pre-Christian era, and has not yet seen any other room. Generally the crowd was loud in admiration of the beauty of the treasures and the perfection of the display.

Filip To British Designing

It is predicted that the exhibition will have a great influence on British designing, at a time when it particularly needs a few fillip.

All the newspapers yesterday published copious pictures and articles describing the spirit of Chinese art. The Royal Asian Society gives a luncheon on December 2, at which Mr. Quo Tai-chi and Mr. Laurence Bryan will be the chief speakers.

The Government gives a banquet on December 3. Mr. Ormsby-Gore will preside and several members of the Cabinet, the diplomatic corps, leading Chinese and leaders of society will be present.

The Report concluded:

"I wish here to express my gratitude to all who have helped in the efficient running of the school. His Excellency the Bishop for his generosity in giving us every help; Rev. Father Peter who has endeared himself to all the little and the big; for his spiritual administrations and for his whole-hearted interest in all the activities

"Returning to the bottom of the stairs, I turned left, and had progressed only a few feet when I heard a soft sound on my right. An indeterminate whisper it was. I became very still.... Nothing! Only those eerie creaks and distant water surges. I must have muttered something aloud, then, for a voice, seemingly just by my right ear, said: 'Thank God! It's human'."

"After the first shock of surprise, I realised that it was a woman's voice, and there was a quality in it which reassured me in a wholly inexplicable manner."

"I answered: 'Yes, I'm human,' and moved towards her, groping until my hand closed on a solid piece of darkness which felt like a silken-covered shoulder. 'Is this you?' I queried fatuously.

"She laughed, and the sound of it was like audible sunshine to me.

"I think so," she said. "But I'm not sure of anything in this blackness!"

"She clasped my hand in hers, and there was an eagerness in her grip, a hint of the fear which she had kept out of her voice. The very feel of those hands obliterated my own dread.

"We drew close together, and for a long while neither of us spoke.... And yet somehow we told each other unworded things. It's queer what a lot can be transmitted without speech; even when sight is not functioning—just the touch of hands and something, maybe it was telepathy. I don't know...."

"At last, as if satisfied with what the dark silence had told her, she began to speak.... I wish I could give you some idea of the quality of her voice. But words are inadequate."

"So there we were—between life and death, with no hint of which was to follow. It seemed quite amusing to remain anonymous, such things as names and normal values had ceased to be. Our conversation, too, drifted far from the normal, it became utterly truthful, mutually revealing to an extent which would have been impossible—or at least extremely difficult—had we had the use of sight in a normal situation. And so we came to know each other—and for myself, I knew I was in love with her.

"In love with a voice? No, not quite that. You see, it was during that first long silence that I began to know the meaning of love.

"She sang to me, too; sometimes a low crooning like the mourn of the wind in the trees at fall, but more often gay little songs of France, or lilting Spanish airs. There was no way of reckoning time in that perpetual darkness. Hunger came, and went. Thirst came and stayed to torment. There was no more singing then. We spoke no more. Only the dulled sense of touch remained to us.

"I don't know which of us passed out first. The last thing I remember is weakly reaching out my hand and finding her."

"That was the end of the adventure as far as I was concerned. It seems that they found us soon afterwards, a fishing schooner off the Banks had sighted the battered remains of the liner partly embedded in a gigantic 'berg' but I didn't learn that until some weeks later.

"I regained consciousness in hospital in St. John's, Newfoundland. I was in a bad state, and it was a long time before I remembered who I was or where I had been. Then I remembered that first shock which had thrown me across the cabin, and—piece by piece, the dark pattern of the intervening time took shape in my mind.... My first rational speech was: 'Where is she?'

"I won't go into details of the spell in hospital nor of my search for 'her' in that town." Drake resumed, "but I assure you it was thorough and prolonged. In the end I decided that she must have sailed for Europe, for she had been on her way there in the Baltic. So I made my way to London as soon as possible; once there I took up the search—it was rather a lot to expect. I admit to find someone whom I had never seen, my only clues being the memory of her voice, her profile which I had visualised from my sense of touch only—and the fact that she was a cabaret singer."

"Well here I am, still searching, now based in New Orleans."

of the school; our assistant masters and especially Messrs. C. C. Quah and K. H. Lim for the very efficient way in which they have handled the Scouts and Cubs; to the generous donors of Scholarships and Prizes; the S.V.P., the K.H.S., and the S.P.C. for helping us to educate poor boys, and to all those ladies and gentlemen who have honoured us with their presence here this afternoon."

Mr. Braga's Speech

After thanking Brother Mathias for his reference to the honour recently conferred upon him by His Majesty the King, Mr. Braga went on to say:

"It is not given to be the happy lot of many pupils of the College to have passed their earlier years on the benches of the first form from the school's establishment to the celebration of its Golden Jubilee, and in this memorable year to be privileged with participation in the speech-day of the College. Such has been my good fortune, and I am happy that the opportunity is offered me for this public expression of my gratitude to the Brothers of the Christian Schools in Hong Kong."

Criticisms

He felt himself obliged, he said, to record his agreement with the Rev. Brother Director on the substitution of the School Certificate Examination for the University Matriculation, acting in support of the London education expert, Mr. E. Burney, M.C., in his report on "Education in Hong Kong" and of Bishop Raimondi, who formulated the educational programme for St. Joseph's College in the early 80's.

Praise For The School

Mr. Braga went on to speak of the satisfaction afforded by the fact that not only local students but others from far-off places in the South resorted to the College for its excellent equipment and the facilities afforded by the staff in imparting sound knowledge and a good grounding in the subjects conforming with the Government's requirements. He referred also with pleasure to the excellent report on the school made by the Inspector of English Schools.
